About Indore

Indore, the largest city in Madhya Pradesh, is a beacon of progress, blending tradition with modernity. For the seventh consecutive time, it has been ranked as India’s cleanest city, exemplifying sustainable urban living with world-class waste management. Renowned as an educational hub, it is home to prestigious institutions like IIT, IIM and RRCAT, fostering research, innovation, and academic excellence. As a leader in the Smart Cities Mission, Indore enhances its infrastructure with smart technologies and sustainable planning. The city hosts the Global Investors Summit, attracting investments in IT, manufacturing, and renewable energy. Indore’s thriving startup ecosystem is supported by incubation centers and government initiatives. Its rich cultural heritage and famous street food, especially at Sarafa Bazaar, make it a vibrant tourist destination. Nearby historical sites like Maheshwar, Ujjain, and Mandu adds to its appeal. Recent achievements, such as Asia’s largest bio-CNG plant and the upcoming Indore Metro, underscore its commitment to growth and sustainability. Indore stands out with its modern infrastructure, educational prominence, and cultural richness.
